

PEERACT NEWSLETTER #5

Dear reader,

We welcome you to our 5th newsletter and at the same time we would like to invite you to our final conference. After almost three years of working on our project we are proud to present you our results at our conference in Bosolassco in Italy. You can join our meeting personally or via Zoom/Youtube live stream (you find further information in this newsletter).

At first, after a short introduction to the entire project objectives and results by our project coordinator, Dr. Zoltán Raffay will give us an overview over the research results about accessible tourism in the five participating countries. The Tourism Institute of the Faculty of Economics and Marketing at the University of Pécs represented by Dr.

Zoltán Raffay and Dr. Tibór Gonda supported PeerAcT with their research expertise. Secondly, five of our peer experts will share their own experiences with you followed by a common panel discussion. Our partners will then present you our PeerAcT training course in accessible tourism for tourism experts. At the end of the conference, we will hand over the PeerAcT certificates to our first generation of peer trainers and accessible tourism trainers.

We would be pleased to welcome you to our Conference!

E-Learning Course for European Peer Counsellors

The peer counsellor training in inclusive tourism is now available as an E-Learning course in all partner languages plus an English version on the moodle platform of the VSBI e.V.!

The course consists of 12 modules which cover various topics like the history of the independent living movement, self-experience, and self-assessment as a peer counsellor as well as methods in peer-counselling and adult education.

Due to the modular structure of the course trainers and trainees can choose with which modules and in which order they want to work. Additionally, the course not only enables individual online learning but also blended-learning and face-to-face learning opportunities. That is why, the individual and different needs and knowledge of trainers and trainees can be addressed in an adequate way.

Especially during the Covid-19 pandemic the online learning opportunity is helpful to secure the further training in inclusive tourism. The training course presents a range of learning materials like working documents, presentations, and videos. All videos are accessible. Sign language and sub titles are offered for all videos through the link to the digital platform LAYA for inclusive learning (<https://peeract.kopfhandundfuss.net>).

The registration for the course is free of costs. Registration is possible on the moodle website of the VSBI e.V. with an E-Mail address: <https://moodle.vsbi.online>

After successful registration the trainers of the courses will allow access to the PeerAct course. We hope you will try out and enjoy our course about peer counselling in inclusive tourism!
